HIGH GRADE IN THE BROKEN HILLS

sinking a new shaft in the new strike of high grade lead silver ore, and it is expected that the shaft will be immediately put to work to timber the main Broken Hills shaft. The main shaft will immediately be sunk to a depth of 150 feet and drifts run on intermediate levels 100 feet apart.

In the main shaft at the 150 foot point, two additional feet of high grade ore have been opened in which was believed to be the hanging wall. This new discovery increases the width of the rock vein at the 150 foot level to 41 feet. Previously nine feet of the ore, which is in the sulphide zone at this point, was officially reported to have an average assay value of better than 20 ounces of silver per ton.

The Utah Nevada & Idaho Telephone company has ordered its telephone line extended into Broken Hills, from Frenchman's Station, about 22 miles away. Installation is expected within the next fortnight.

The Broken Hills Silver Corporation has sold the Cracker Jack mine as a townsite to the new owners of Broken Hills. About 25 buildings have already been erected on the new town lots.

The water supply of the camp will soon be augmented by wells within a mile of the mine and another five miles south of the camp. It is reported that Ed. Chafey, representing the Broken Hills interests that are closely identified with Thomas W. Lawson, is endeavoring to negotiate a deal for his principal for the Thompson group to the southwest of the Broken Hills property.

DOROTHY DALTON AT THE BUTLER TODAY

Dorothy Dalton is playing at the Butler theatre today, in "Black and White," produced by Thomas H. Ince. It was adapted from an excellent story by George Barr McCutcheon. Miss Dalton plays a typical role and is said to have been afforded unusual opportunities to display her versatility and talents as an emotional actress.

The plot centers around Margaret Flood, deeply in love with her husband, Jim, who is dominating and jealous without reason, of the good Margaret. For Fred, their son, matters reach such a climax when he accuses his wife of infidelity and she leaves him. Margaret finds a refuge in the home of her invalid sister, Theresa, whom she strongly resembles. Theresa dies, just as news comes that Margaret's husband, a baronet, has arranged to adopt her as his daughter and establish her in his Paris residence. Margaret takes her sister's place and goes to Strakosch. There Jim Flood meets her, failing to recognize her as his wife. He falls in love with her and marries her. She is willing, desperately eager to see their son again and to revenge herself on Jim. Back in New York, Jim's old jealousy returns, when he sees the ripening love between Fred and his supposed stepmother. But by unforeseen developments matters are straightened out happily. Included in the program is a one reel "Primal" subject "Alligators" showing these animals in their natural colors.

Tomorrow, Gertrude Asherton's "Out of the Storm," a terrific storm. Also Fatty Arbuckle in "The Garage."
